

National Human Rights Consultation Submission

AGWW-7QT9ER

Name: Les Glover

Submission Text:

From what I've seen, all this 'human rights' stuff is all for the benefit of everyone except the poor old Anglo-Australian. As far as I'm concerned, people who break society's rules, deserve to be punished, not rewarded!

And speaking of rules, there was a time when there were a few simple rules that were easy to follow and adjudicate on, but everyday, a lot of people seem hellbent on making everything complicated.

The more complicated you make things, the more holes there are in them. I just see these 'human rights' as yet another dodgy set of rules that will allow scum to prosper.

I'll tell you what though, a lot of people may make use of the right to pass on when we choose.....what?
We're not allowed to do that?