

National Human Rights Consultation Submission

AGWW-7QE6C8

Organisation: Atherton Mens Centre

Submission Text:

The Family Law Act, and the way it is administered by Magistrates, Judges and the legal profession, discriminates against men.

(1) Property division is inequitable.

(2) Women are never punished for perjury.

(3) Men are often wrongly accused of child and wife abuse, and they are guilty until proven innocent.

(4) The Child Safety Department is run by women, and they do not respond to complaints lodged by men.

(5) The Child Safety Department is arrogant and aggressively anti-male.

Their assessments are too hard and too slow to amend.
