Submission Text:

My husband and I definitely DO NOT want a bill or charter of rights to be passed, because our rights are currently protected sufficiently by common law, by parliamentary democracy and freedom of speech. There is (now) more fairness and freedom within our common law, than leaving decisions to be made by unelected judges. WE ARE TOTALLY AGAINST ANY FORM OF A BILL OF RIGHTS. Also, we are totally against the United Nations' Committees to have the power to overturn any Australian laws.

My husband and I definitely DO NOT want any laws against religious vilification passed. They would weaken our rights of free speech - which we now enjoy - and cause much unnecessary confusion. Instead of giving more power to unelected judges we want to defend the current system, allowing the elected governments to have the final say. WE ARE TOTALLY AGAINST ANY RELIGIOUS VILIFICATION LAWS BEING PASSED.
