

National Human Rights Consultation Submission

AGWW-7R3G94

Name: david fuh

Submission Text:

Article 19 of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights states:

" Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers."

Why are Stephen Conroy, Kevin Rudd and the Labor government trying to deny us this right by censoring the internet. They plan to do this by using a secret blacklist with no accountability. Why is the Labor government attempting to restrict the material that I can read and view on the Internet, and say that they can't tell me what is censored.

If Australia upholds the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and is obliged to give effect to the human rights obligations contained therein, why is Stephen Conroy still pressing ahead with his intended internet Censorship?